And bonnier lassies see,
O, dinna, Jamie, look at them,
Lest ye should mind na me.

For I could never bide the lass
That ye'd lo'e mair than me;
And O, I'm sure my heart wad brak,
Gin ye'd prove fause to me!

DUNLOP.

NOT ALL A JOKE.

"Five-and-fifty years," said Squire Dockworthy, meditatively, shaking the ashes out of his pipe, "five-and-fifty years. A man won't likely be married, I guess, when he's lived satisfied with a single lot all these years."

"Stranger things have been known to happen, Uncle Dockworthy," said Ferdinand Apperly, who was a graceless college boy of nineteen or thereabouts.

"Not in these here parts, I guess," replied the Squire.

"Well, but, Uncle, things are so different from what they used to be," persisted Ferdinand. "You see, there has never been a period before, when Woman's Rights were in the ascendant as they are now."

"Don't see that affects any particular case," said Squire Dockworthy. "I ain't a woman."

"Ah, but you don't comprehend the imminence of the danger," said Ferdinand solemnly.

"Ah?" said the Squire.

"With Miss Armithea Jenkins living next door, and leap-year at that," added young Apperly, mischievously, enjoying his relative's growing consternation.

"But you don't suppose—"

"I suppose nothing," interrupted Ferdinand; "I only put the case problematically, just to convince you, sir, that you can't be too careful."

"Oh, pshaw!" said the Squire, uneasily, drawing a huge yellow silk handkerchief across his brow, "you can't scare me with your college nonsense, Ferdy. A man can't be married without saying I will, no more'n a woman."

But when he went to the village that afternoon, Ferdinand noticed that he took the way down Hollow Dam, a good eighth of a mile out of the way, sooner than pass the casements of Miss Arimathea Jenkins' one-story residence, next to his own, on the high road.

"I've made some impression on him, at all events," said Ferdy, to himself, with a sparkle of merry diaplerie in his eyes.

The Squire was sitting in the fire light that evening, enjoying the season between daylight and dusk, technically known as "blind man's holiday," when there sounded a soft rap on the panel of the door.

"Come in," said the Squire; and a tall form entered, clad in sober black, with a bonnet of rusty bombazine trimmed with a huge black jet buckle.

"Good evening t'ye, Miss Arimathea," said the Squire, a little tremulously, as he recognized the bonnet and garb of his spinster neighbor. "That there colt of mine been breaking through your pickets agin? I declare to gracious I've a great mind to sell him."

"Tisn't that, Squire, thank you kindly," was the answer.

"Set down, set down?" said Mr. Dockworthy. "Bless me what a cold you have got—you're as hoarse as a crow."

"A-hem!" said Miss Arimathea. "This weather is trying to weak lungs; but I called on business, Squire."

"I know it was the colt," said the Squire despairingly.

"But it ain't the colt," said Miss Jenkins. "It's myself, Squire."

"Oh," said the gentleman.

"I have concluded," went on his visitant, "to take advantage of the rights accorded to our sex by the year, and—and—in short, Squire——"

Mr. Dockworthy moved his chair a little back, but Miss Arimathea anticipated the movement by sinking down theatrically on one knee before him.

"Joshua, will you be mine?" she murmured, with what might have been either a sob or hysteric laugh.

"I—I'd rather not," said the Squire, hitching his chair back a little further still.

"Joshua! would you break my heart?"

"I guess 'tain't so brittle as all that," said the Squire, uneasily.

"I love you, Joshua Dockworthy—I have loved you these ten years," stammered the lady still on her knees. "Say, oh! say you will be all my own! I'm a good cook, Joshua, I'm a master hand at men's shirts, and everybody knows that a place ain't a place without a woman to slick it up."

"I know," said the Squire, "but——"

Miss Arimathea rose to her feet and flung her arms about the Squire's neck.

"Joshua! Joshua! you will say yes?"

There was a rattling at the door latch of the room beyond. The Squire grew scarlet as the possibility of Ferdinand Apperly breaking in upon this tete-a-tete occurred to his mind.

"Take your arms away," said the Squire, nervously. "Please—there's a good girl."

"Not until you speak the word that is to be my future bliss," persisted Miss Jenkins, letting the rusty bonnet droop on his shoulder.

"Quick," gasped her hero; "there's some one coming."

"Say yes, then, dearest Joshua!"

The footsteps drew nearer. They paused almost at the door.

"Yes," gasped the Squire, breaking into a clammy perspiration all over—"yes, yes! Only go."

Miss Arimathea Jenkins only paused for a parting pressure of her lips to her ancient lover's brow, and hurried away with subdued rustling of sombre drapery; while on the other side of the door, the threatening sound of footsteps passed by without any one entering.

"Thank goodness for that!" said Mr. Dockworthy to himself. "If that young rascal, Ferdy, had happened in just then! But what—what have I done? Engaged myself to marry that old maid! —I, at five-and-fifty years of age! I'd better go into a lunatic asylum at once. What will Ferdinand say? I wonder if I couldn't go to China, or California, or Japan, or some of those far-away places! Or, perhaps, it might be better to swear her over to keep the peace or ——"

And Squire Dockworthy smote his two hands despairingly on the bald spot on the top of his head, as he reflected on the futility of any remedy short of matrimony for the ailment of leap year.

Yet as he mused on past, present and future, he could not help thinking that many a man had found a worse helpmate, after all, than Miss Arimathea Jenkins. She was not young, to be sure, but then neither was he. She was fair, fresh and pretty; she was very handy at a wedding or a funeral; she comprehended perfectly the exigencies of the needle, and she was just the element that he needed to brighten up the solitary old farm-house.

"It ain't a bad idea," said the Squire to himself; "but I most wish she hadn't been the one to propose it. Very likely, I'd ha' thought of it myself, if she'd gin me time. However, its leap-year, and I don't suppose we ought to blame the women for takin' whatever advantages the law allows 'em. I won't say nothin' to Ferdy, but I'll just drop over there in the course of the morning."

Mr. Dockworthy was as good as his word. Miss Arimathea Jenkins' breakfast dishes were hardly washed up, the next day, when he walked in.

How pretty she looked, like a full-blossomed cabbage-rose, or a dahlia, or any other mature bloom, in the neat black gingham gown and white bib-apron she wore, standing in front of the kitchen sink. Not a gray hair in her abundant brown tresses—not a crow's foot at the corner of her eyes.

"Well, Arimathea," said the Squire, a little sheepishly.

"Well, Squire," said Miss Jenkins, with non chalance, as she wrung out her dish-cloth and hung it on a nail at the corner of the dresser.

"I've come to talk that little matter over with you."

"What little matter?"

"Why, about being married."

Miss Jenkins paused, with bib-apron half untied, and stared at the squire with wondering blue eyes.

"My sakes alive!" she ejaculated, "Who's talking about being married? Nobody has asked me yet, and if they did, I'm by no means certain that I should say yes."

"But, they've asked me," said the squire, bcundingly.

"Who has?"

"Why, you—haven't you?"

"Joshua Dockworthy, are you crazy?" demanded Miss Jenkins, with dignity; "I ask you?"

"Yes; last night. Don't you remember?"

"Last night! Why, Widow Percey was here, and spent the evening, and I never went across my threshold. And if I had, it isn't likely that I should go philandering over to your house to ask you to marry me, I guess."

"Well, then," said the squire, "look here. It's a trick of that rascal Ferdinand—one of his college games."

"That's probable enough," said Miss Jenkins, who looked prettier than ever, with reddened cheeks and shining eyes.

The Squire's countenance fell; he was more disappointed than he cared to own.

"Look here, Arimathea," said he. "Don't you s'pose ——"

"Yes," said Miss Jenkins, laughing and coloring. "I do suppose—that is, if you wished it very much."

"Well, I do," said the Squire. "And I'll tell you what—we'll be even with Ferdinand Apperly yet."

And when the collegian heard that his chances of an inheritance from his rich bachelor uncle were to be diminished by the marriage of that elderly relative, he started in dismay.

"You are really going to be married, uncle?" gasped he.

"Really and truly."

"And what on earth has put that into your head?"

"Leap-year, I think," said the Squire, with a sober twinkle in his eyes, which revealed to Ferdinand that his uncle had detected his trick.

A YOUNG MAN'S OBJECTIONS TO HIS MOTHER'S MARRIAGE.—Says the Detroit Free Press: Some time ago a widow named Mrs. Catherine Watkins, living on Franklin street, fell in love with a sailor named Hughes, or he did with her, and the result of it was that they have been talking about getting married for a month past. Two things hindered them—the widow's son, a young man of 19, John B., who swore he would shoot both mother and sailor if they attempted to marry, and Hughes has not been able to leave his vessel long enough to have the ceremony performed. It was last week agreed upon between him and the widow that yesterday forenoon should be the date of the ceremony, John B. to the contrary notwithstanding. It was believed that the young man would raise something of a fuss, but that he would not proceed to extremities. The time of the ceremony was kept a secret from him, and yesterday morning he went off to his work.

About ten o'clock Hughes and a minister sallied into the widow's house, followed by a small crowd of the sailor's friends. The widow was all ready, looking as bright as a rose, and things would have moved off nicely but for the sudden appearance of John B. Some one had carried the news to him, and he came home on a run. He had a revolver up-stairs, and he entered the house to get it, shouting that he would "shoot every cussed one of them, preacher and all." Perhaps he would have done so, only two of the sailors seized hold of him, hauled him out into the yard, and then sat down on him. "Go ahead, old boy!" shouted one of the Jack Tars to the clergyman. The clergyman went ahead, and in two or three minutes Mrs. Watkins was Mrs. Hughes. While the ceremony was being performed one of the sailors sat on John B.'s stomach, and another held his legs. He shouted and yelled, but he could not get up.

A LOAD of wheelbarrows was sent out recently from the United States to be used in some building operations in Southern Europe; but, instead of managing them in the legitimate way, the untaught laborers filled the barrows with earth and stones, and then carried them on their heads.

A BERLIN physician recently tried to dissever the bodies of two twin girls grown together like the Siamese twins. One of the girls survived the operation one day and the other lingered for three days.

HISTORIC PHRASES.

Samuel Adams, known for many things, seldom had his name associated with the phrase first applied by him to England: "Nation of Shopkeepers."

Franklin has said many things which have passed into maxims, but nothing that is better known and remembered than "he has paid too dear for his whistle."

Washington made but few epigrammatic speeches. Here is one: "To be prepared for war is the most effectual means of preserving peace."

Old John Dickinson wrote, in 1778, of Americans: "By uniting, we stand; by dividing, we fall."

Patrick Henry, as every school-boy knows, gave us: "Give me liberty or give me death," and, "If this be treason, make the most of it."

Thomas Paine had many quotable epigrammatic sentences: "Rose like a rocket, fell like a stick;" "Times that try men's souls;" "One step from the sublime to the ridiculous," etc.

Josiah Quincy, Sr., said: "Wherever or however we shall be called on to make our exit, we will die freemen."

Henry Lee gave Washington his immortal title: "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Charles Cotesworth Pinckney declared in favor of "millions for defence, but not one cent for tribute."

"Peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must," is from Josiah Quincy, 1811.

Andrew Jackson gave us: "The Union—it must be preserved."

THE NEW HOG CAR.—The Cleveland Leader thus describes the Bergh palace hog car: When the swine wish to slumber, they blow a whistle made from the tail of a brother who has gone before; the conductors enter and conduct them to a hot Russian bath in the rear end of the car, after which they are rubbed down with rough towels, a lunch of old boots and ice cream furnished. Not a squeal is ever heard in these cars, nothing but of satisfaction, and a skilled musician plays in from eight to twenty-four hours a day playing on a cottage organ, such ballads as the "Handsome Fat-Man," "The Watch on the Rhine," "When the Pigs Come Home," etc. In fact life is a perpetual holiday on the hog trains until they arrive within a few miles of Jersey City, when the train is stopped, a steam fire engine throws a stream of chloroform into each car, and the inmates sink into a slumber from which they never awaken in this world of trichinæ, butcher-knives, smoked ham, headcheese, and death.

THE REASON.—In Indiana, a husband, after a spree, was led home by one of his friends, who after posting him safely on the door-step, rang the bell and retreated somewhat deviously to the other side of the street, to see if it would be answered. Promptly the "port" was "outverted," and the fond spouse, who had waited up for her truant husband, beheld him in all his teddiness,

"Why, Walter, is this you?"

"Yes, my dear."

"What in the world has kept you so?"

"Been out on a little turn with 'er boys, my d-d-arling."

"Why, Walter, you are intoxicated!"

"Yes, my dear; I estimate that's so."

"What on earth made you get so drunk! And why—oh why do you come to me in this dreadful state?"

"Because, my darling, all th' other places are shut up!"

HE UNDERSTOOD IT.—School-boys sometimes answer the questions in the book very glibly, and much to the pride and satisfaction of the teacher, with little comprehension of the meaning of the words. In a certain school the geography class was called up to pass examination before the committee man, and questions were asked about St. Helena and the grave there of Napoleon Bonaparte. "Where has he since been entombed?" was the next question.

"In Paris, with great pomp," answered the pupil very readily, and in the exact words of the book.

"Right; and what do you understand by 'great pomp,'" asked the committee man.

"A big nigger!" responded the youth, unhesitatingly; and then observing a surprised expression creeping over the faces of the listeners, he added, "I 'spose they buried him with one of his old slaves!"

SAYS the United States Economist: There is something above and beyond fashion in the movement that depletes our cities of their population in summer time. It is based on sound sanitary principles, and although some may pervert the vacation season into a mere riot of frivolity and extravagance, the majority find in it a healthful relaxation that increases the forces and vitality of life. And to effect this it is not necessary to make the vacation a mere period of dullness and lazy inaction. The change of scene, the relaxation from the high tension of business, and the sense of freedom from its immediate pressing cares and responsibilities, all tend to render this mid-summer vacation a healthful tonic that is sure to invigorate all the faculties, and fit them for a keener resumption of the active duties of life.

TEAPOT TREASURY.—An aged lady, says the Doylestown Democrat, of fourscore years, died recently, down in White Marsh. After her death, on examining her room, an old teapot was found containing $600 in gold. On an examination of the bed, a considerable amount of greenbacks was found fixed up in the bedding. On account of these discoveries of money, an examination was then made of the garret, and there $3,400 in gold and silver coin were also found.

SECOND-HAND LOVE LETTERS.—A lady, recently married to a widower, was found one day walking about in a state of violent excitement. She was asked what was the matter. Her only reply was that "her husband was a villain." After some time she added with some hesitation, "Why, I have discovered that all the love letters that he sent to me were the very same as those he sent to his first wife."

A LOUISVILLE hen is not to be discouraged by trifles. Having determined to set, and finding that all her eggs had been taken away, she raked together half a dozen Irish potatoes, and is now heroically at work on them.

THE RINGSTER'S REWARD.

A Chapter for the People.

[From Forney's Press.]

HARRISBURG, June 28, 1872.

The journalist is a historian who of all other annalists known to the world has the hardest labor to perform, the most embarrassing duties to discharge, because he must animadvert on living men with whom he is brought in daily contact, and discuss facts full of irritation to those with whom he is on terms of social good feeling. The man who accepts a duty such as I have undertaken in this correspondence must evince no shrinking, no hesitation, no fear of consequences or responsibilities, for the reason that the highest good of the public weal demands a fearless examination into the position and antecedents of those who are aspirants for public honors and official powers.

We have reached a crisis in our politics wherein only the truth's lightning flashes are capable of purifying the fetid atmosphere by which we are surrounded, and if we cannot eradicate the evils which now blister on the surface of the Republican party by the defeat of candidates forced upon us in defiance of our preferences for others, the day will come when our enemies will be strong enough to defeat us on the issue that the measures we advocate are defective, a defeat from which it will be hard to recover, if it will not be impossible for us to do so. But to my subject proper.

CAMERON'S GREED.

In my last letter I showed you how anxious and for what purpose the Camerons strove to retain their hold on the Auditing Office and State Treasury. In my narrative I then forgot to mention, or rather to show your readers, how this powerful ring had begun, more than a year ago, to secure material resources to carry on the war in which the Camerons are now engaged—a war which is waged first to re-elect their wily old chief of the Senate, and, second, to facilitate the greed of the ring to make money at the expense of the State Treasury. The main fact must never be lost sight of, namely—that the Camerons' ambition, hope, longing, dream, and greed is money. General Cameron lives for money, hungers for money; and will draw his last breath grasping with gaunt and spasmodic fingers at the fading, rustling vision of a greenback. He desires to leave his son Donald the richest man in the State, and he will do it at the expense of the groaning tax-payer if the ballot is not interposed to thwart his fell design, and prevent the ring, of which he is the great centre, from so strengthening themselves as to be able to preserve their existence for public plundering after he has passed to a bar of justice where corruption and menace will be of no avail to render an account for the crimes committed while he lived. Here is my omitted chapter in the history of the ring.

AN OMITTED CHAPTER OF PAST HISTORY.

On the 19th of May, 1871, Butler B. Strang, of Tioga county, a henchman of the Camerons, introduced in the House of Representatives a resolution authorizing the Auditor General, State Treasurer, and Attorney General, or a majority of them, to compromise all claims against corporations for taxes then in litigation before the courts. That resolution on its face looked very innocent, but it only required a partial investigation to expose the stupendous corruption and fraud which it covered. I want the reader well to observe the words, "or a majority of them."

The Attorney General had before the courts when this resolution was offered claims amounting to over half a million of dollars, every penny of which he was professionally and morally sure of collecting. Hence the amazement created by Mr. Strang's resolution. George Coray, of Luzerne county, a sturdy Republican, and Thomas Chalfant, of Montour, an incorruptible Democrat, at once challenged Mr. Strang's proposition. They demanded to know the reason for proposing to take this business out of the hands of the Attorney General, and were told that the State wanted money, yet it was known that at the very time the proposition was made Camerons' banks had hundreds of thousands of dollars of the State's money, which they used in note shaving and other speculations.

THE RINGLEADERS.

Robert W. Mackey, State Treasurer, and John F. Hartranft, Auditor General, were personally on the floor of the House button-holing Representatives to pass this resolution, while Attorney General Brewster disavowed all connection with it, insisting that the courts would allow every claim of the State against corporations then in litigation. Now, why were Hartranft and Mackey so anxious to be invested with the power to compromise these claims? The Attorney General had never expressed a doubt as to the success of his labors, but declared that he could collect the full amount in litigation, and the sequel proved that he was right. But why were Hartranft and Mackey so anxious to compromise? The answer is a plain one. The proceeding proposed was only another name for a grand scheme to plunder the State Treasury, because a compromise settlement of each of these claims would have resulted in a loss of at least two-thirds to the State, and the Cameron ring been enabled to make a quarter of a million of dollars by the operation, which stupendous sum was to be set aside as a corruption fund to re-elect Simon Cameron to the United States Senate. The main facts of this transaction are in the Legislative Record, in the proceedings of May 19, 1871. You can there find the debate in the House, called out by Strang's proposition, while all who know anything of the lobby here will readily recall the participation of Hartranft and Mackey in this infamous scheme.

HARTRANFT'S REWARD.

As a reward for what Hartranft did in this transaction he was nominated for Governor, covenanting on his part, in the event of his election, to use his influence to revive this scheme, and have the State Treasurer, Auditor General, and Attorney General organized as such a board; and as Mackey will be Treasurer for a year, he, with a tool of the Camerons in the Attorney General's office, would have full power to plunder the Treasury by this process. Only a second Boss Tweed could concoct such a game, and the men who have it in charge only await the action of the people to carry it to success. If the Cameron ring maintains its power in the Auditing Office and State Treasury, and can lay its heavy hand on the great seal of the Commonwealth by pocketing the servile tool whom they ask the people to elect as Governor, this, and other schemes like it hereafter to be concocted, will be carried on to misapply the cheerfully paid taxes of a disgraced and plundered people. Is it essential to a preservation of the vital forces of the Republican party that such schemes shall succeed? Honest Republicans must answer this question at the ballot box in October, and in the meantime I will gather facts like these from official records and from the statements of honest men to show the relation which the Cameron ring bears to the honor of the Republican party and to the integrity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

WHAT GEN. HARTRANFT KNOWS ABOUT IT.

I do not charge that General Hartranft originated this scheme. But I do assert that he understood what would be its effects. He knew at the time that the proposition contemplated a repudiation of the judiciary, and that it was meant to centralize in a corrupt ring powers which could only with safety be exercised by the courts, and which the Constitution designed never should be exercised by executive officers; and having allowed his name officially to be coupled with such a gigantic scheme is the best evidence of his entire subserviency to the ring—a ring that scorns the wishes of the people, regards the judiciary with contempt, estimates legislative bodies by their dollars and cents value, and looks upon all executive officers as its mere tools. Can the people, with any degree of safety, trust a man with supreme executive powers who thus lends himself to the machinations of the corrupt?

CORIOLANUS.

BUGLE-CALL OF THE LIBERALS.

ADDRESS OF THE LIBERAL REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

To the People of Pennsylvania:

The issues involved in the pending political contest are now clearly defined, and the lines distinctly drawn. Despite the efforts of those who could not or would not see and understand, the great uprising of the people in behalf of self-government and reform has healed the lingering estrangements of civil war, obliterated sectional differences, and effaced party lines in its onward sweep. Political prejudices and distrust have been removed by the highest authorities of the political organizations which are inspired by a common faith and purpose, and patriotic men of all parties can unite for the regeneration of our national, State and municipal governments. No mere political management, however skillful, could thus have defied the associations and antagonisms of the past. It is the ground-swell of the long restrained determination of the people to restore all the departments of power to order, economy and law.

There will be a stubborn and desperate struggle in Pennsylvania. Every channel of power is controlled by those whose maladministration has provoked this tidal wave that is to destroy them. Their means are neither few nor feeble. The honors, the emoluments, the plunder of the national, State, and city governments are in their hands, and the public positions, designed for the benefit of the people, will be prostituted to the uttermost to defeat the people in their battle for reform. They will defraud the unwary, debauch the venal, intimidate the weak, and flatter the ambitious; and all the multiplied appliances of corrupt and unscrupulous authority will be exhausted to protract their rule. The legislative power and the revenues and vast resources of the State have been in their control, and our places of power have been bartered to the most unworthy. The trusts, the revenues, the departments of power, and, as a rule, the offices of the law in Philadelphia, have been at once their prey and their shield, and they will surrender them only when the decisive verdict of the people dethrones them.

The present political rule in Pennsylvania must be overthrown. It is a living libel upon Republicanism, and a blistering blot upon the Commonwealth. Every dictate of patriotism, of integrity, of personal honor, and of public safety demands it. Its corruption, as authoritatively exposed, pervades almost every channel of public trust. Its prostitution of power, and traffic in Federal, State and municipal official favors, have driven competent and upright men from the public service, and its complete subordination to the interests of Simon Cameron makes every path leading from it point to public purity and individual manhood.

We appeal to the people of Pennsylvania, without distinction of party, to join in prompt and thorough organization to redeem our city, our Legislature, and our State. No district, city, or county is hopeless in such a contest. The power of plunderers, however organized, cannot withstand the assaults of an aroused people. The misrule with which we must grapple stands as exceptional in our history in point of magnitude and daring, but in one thing it cannot be exceptional. A similar misrule has been overthrown and died without worshippers, and there can be no evading this execrable fate. On every hand party ties are proving powerless to array faithful people against themselves and their interests, and the decisive battle is now to be fought. If the present rule could be sanctioned by the people at the polls, the policy of the city and State would be settled for years to come, and fraud, oppression and corruption would be perpetuated by the highest authority known to our institutions. If defeated now, as it must be, it will be defeated for all time, and the men now struggling for the honors and power of the city and State will seek safety in obscurity.

This battle for reform must be fought in our State contest. In vain will the leaders of misrule plead to escape the trial before the people by hiding their deformities under a national standard. However people may differ on national questions, the election of an honest and competent Executive is their bulwark of safety. The election of proper delegates to the Constitutional Convention will make organized plunderers impossible hereafter. The election of an honest Legislature will restore the government of Philadelphia to the control of her own citizens, will brand with infamy those who would sell or buy a seat in the first legislative tribunal of the nation, and will make our revenues secure from the grasps and perils of the speculators. The election of an honest Auditor General will save hundreds of thousands of dollars to the treasury, and enforce fidelity in the administration of our financial affairs. The election of judicial officers who are in sympathy with the regeneration of the Government, preserves in all its sanctity and power the last refuge of an oppressed people.

If the discharge of this plain and imperative duty by the people, in October, shall defeat or endanger either Greeley or Grant in November, in this State, there can be no argument or apology offered for his success. Let the candidates of reform be sustained under all circumstances, regardless of all party associations or prejudices, and the triumph of October will restore our State and city to honest, enlightened, and patriotic government. If the cause and candidates of the Liberal Republicans cannot, then, achieve victory in November, it will be because they are not the most deserving. We are content to abide the issue.

A. K. McCLURE,
Chairman Liberal Republican State Committee.

THE TWO COVENTIONS COMPARED.

(From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

In thinking of the two tickets now fully before the people, the reader's mind naturally takes in review and contrasts the two conventions which have potentially placed the candidates in the field. That at Cincinnati was so heterogeneous and empirical a convention as to lift itself out of the category of comparison and to be entitled to separate consideration. Such consideration it has had, and it has passed into history as a very respectable, audacious and brilliant gathering of persons, who did, irresponsibly and to a degree non-representatively, so well as to commend their action in full to the more imposing and authoritative body for whose co-operation it labored. The conventions for comparative consideration, however, have been those of Baltimore and Philadelphia, as they came from voters who chose them in pursuance of the political processes of the people. Moreover, it is the work of one or the other of these that the people will approve. Till Baltimore had formally nominated him, Mr. Greeley was only a candidate of a part of a party, with every prospect of a creditable backing, but with none of a successful support. The action yesterday in the Maryland metropolis nationalizes him as a candidate, and gives him official credentials as "regular" and formidable as those borne by General Grant. It is timely and pertinent, therefore, to compare these two conventions.

Comparison has first to do with likeness and then unlikeness. The conventions were alike in numbers. Every State and Territory was represented. For years past it has been rare in national conventions that this has been the case. It being the case as to each of these great gatherings it is a reassuring suggestion of prevalence of peace and of equal rights of free speech and free opinion throughout the whole Union. The conventions were also alike in their paucity of mere professional politicians. So brave a fire was opened on the Philadelphia affair in embryo that the order went forth, "Put none but non-office holding persons on guard." We were never blind to the fact that behind the local and mercantile dummies really stood the officeholders pulling the strings. Nor were we insensitive to the external regard paid to the feeling of public decency which kept the federal gang in the background. It was not their first purpose to keep or to be kept there, and their ward position evidenced a gratifying deference to public opinion; a deference which in the House simultaneously took the form of a refusal to endow the chief of the officeholders with power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus while running for re-election.

At Baltimore there was a lack of mere political brokers and crib feeders, but they were kept back not for policy, but simply because they have fallen into to disfavor with a party which has taken its affairs into its own hands. Nor were they present at all at Baltimore, as they were at Philadelphia, making the delegates their puppets and proxies. The conventions were alike, also, in the fact that they came instructed. The dates on the instructions of the Philadelphia were as old as the resolution of the administration to perpetuate itself. The general order on them was in one word: "Renomination." The Baltimore delegates were also under instructions, but it will not be pretended that they were of that stale and inexorable "ring" character of their Quaker City predecessor. Most certainly there was an order to nominate Greeley and Brown, but it came from the people. It grew up to omnipotence in three months' time, and was the electric recoil of the sudden and surprising selections at Cincinnati. On the contrary, the "renomination" was a fact fixed up in the revenue offices and postoffices and custom houses and primary-made "committees" off and on for three years preceding.

It was inexorably ordered, in the face of the protest and fairly announced bolt of a very large portion of the party. Obedience to the decree compelled the dissolution of the unity of the party, occasioned the departure of its most cultivated and historical leaders and journals, and tied the "regulars" down to an apologetic, defensive campaign, and to bear the sins of a man they espoused as a last resort, whom they could neither stand up under nor cast off. Every instruction, on the contrary, imposed on Baltimore was yet warm with the breath of the people, and was witness to the most spontaneous and disinterested demonstration that ever swept over this country. We testified to the decorum and, finally, spontaneous enthusiasm of the Philadelphia convention. Thousands were there whose admiration goes out toward vulgarized power, and in whose breasts the sashed and girded sphinx, whose counterfeit resemblance dropped from the mimic clouds, stirred martial recollections dear and magnificent. But "peace hath her victories not less renowned than war." In volume and significance, in spontaneity, and in all the elements that enter into progress and lofty conquest of partisanism in the interest of patriotism, to our eyes, the Baltimore convention infinitely excelled the Philadelphia one.

The personal and official differences are as noticeable. The temporary president of the Philadelphia convention was Mr. Morton McMichael, a life-long place-holder and place-hunter, and a man whose later life has developed a tendency to sneeze every time Simon Cameron takes snuff. The temporary president of the Baltimore convention was the venerable grandson of Thos. Jefferson, one of the most distinguished gentlemen of the Old Dominion, never an officeholder, but always one of the leaders in action and council of affairs in a State where politics is the occupation of men who earn their living not in office. The social, historical and ancestoral honors and claims that this venerable gentleman incarnate would seem to have breathed a halo of dignity and patriotism over all the subsequent actions of the body.

For permanent president of the Philadelphia affair was Thomas P. Settle, selected to placate about as infamous a gang of cut purses and political pirates as ever made the task of the historian partake of the duties of the scavenger. Himself a man of force and ability, the inquiry his giddy elevation has provoked into his career shows him to be head and front of the "ring" in North Carolina that did Holden's robbery, murdering and mayhem for him; it also shows that he has had the honor of drawing his full salary as minister to Peru without departing from North Carolina at all. The corresponding officer to him at Baltimore was James R. Doolittle, one of the purest and ablest men of this country—a Senator whom office made poor, and who voted on his conscience at a crucial period in favor of the right, when all the threats and blandishments of power beat themselves to pieces against his Roman virtue.

The platform of Philadelphia, too, is simply bosh, in comparison with that of Baltimore and Cincinnati. It is turgid, deceitful, full of double-dealing, and as a literary feat verbose, stupid, contemptible. On the contrary, the platform of Baltimore and Cincinnati, as our readers well know, is in its style a literary model; in its statements moderate and true; in its demands and principles explicit, candid, unmistakable, and based upon a patriotism and a purpose of reform that caused it to sound like a trumpet to a people heretofore apathetic. In the adoption of candidates and platform at Philadelphia neither debate nor inquiry was allowed. Delegates there were who wanted to improve the platform. Governor Hawley at once moved the previous question so grimly that such delegates were absolutely cowed out of speaking. In Baltimore the previous question was moved, but more than an hour's debate followed on the platform in a convention that was overwhelmingly minded to adopt it. To the Delaware dissidents the utmost courtesy and consideration were shown, and in the nominating the possibly inequitable but time-honored two-thirds rule was adhered to. Several candidates were voted for, and the utterance of manly, sincere opposition was as thoroughly respected as the agreement upon the overwhelming purpose of the body.

We are very glad absolute unanimity did not at first characterize the consideration of either the platform or the candidates. No charge of collusion or non-consideration can lie against the action on those subjects, and the campaign of calumny to which the liberals are to be treated will be amputated of its most choice feature at the start. Every one knows that in the Baltimore body there were no men who have stolen whole States, as the republican Grant delegates from Louisiana, South Carolina, and Florida had done. The Baltimore convention was a spontaneously constituted, genuinely conducted demonstration under direct instructions from the people. The Philadelphia convention was the spectacular vindication of "power" and "arrangement" under the specific instructions of officeholders. We believe that the action of the Baltimore convention will be endorsed by the people. It has already by the influences it diffuses spread good feeling, toleration and charity through thousands of breasts, and has taken out of politics a thousand disturbing, obsolete questions people will be glad to bury. It was one of those rare uprisings of the people personally, which politicians may be shrewd enough not to oppose, but which it is impertinence for them to attempt to direct and fatal for them to belittle or misunderstand.

THE BOTTOM OF A WELL KNOCKED OUT BY A THUNDER STORM.—In Newark a most astonishing event occurred on Friday morning on the premises of F. McCormick. A terrible thunder storm was raging. About 5 o'clock a colored woman employed next door visited Mr. McCormick's well for a pail of water, which she obtained. After having taken it to the house, she returned for the second pail. In the interval two claps of thunder, following each other in rapid succession, occurred. When she reached the well the second time it was perfectly dry, and one of the buckets so deeply imbedded in the earth as to be perfectly immovable, being covered with several feet of earth. The colored woman said the lightening struck the well, bored a hole through the bottom and let the water out. A slight examination, however, was sufficient to convince any person that the disturbing element had not come from above, but that there had been an actual upheaval of the earth, sufficient to divert the flow of water. Not a stone was displaced, and there was no indication whatever of any shock except at the bottom of the well, which is very deep, built long years ago in the old-fashioned substantial style, and which has never been known to cease its supply in the dryest season.

AN EXTENSIVE WHEAT FIELD.—The Stockton (Cal.) Independent, of June 24, says: On the west side of the San Joaquin River, in this valley, there is a grain field which extends for thirty five miles, and is of an average width of eight miles, thus covering an area of 179,200 acres. Persons who have lately traveled through this immense grain field estimate the total average yield at sixteen bushels to the acre, which will give a total yield of 2,867,200 bushels, or 86,015 tons. There is, however, a much larger area cultivated in grain on the east side of the San Joaquin than on the west side. From Lathrop to Merced, a distance of over fifty miles, the rail road runs through an almost unbroken grain field, extending as far as the eye can see on either side. The product of this whole valley will be much greater than ever before, and the rail road company will find it very difficult to move the immense amount to the market before the rainy season.

THERE is a most extraordinary woman in Rutland, Vermont. She has had a remarkable experience for a person only 38 years of age; for she has followed to the tomb two husbands; has been divorced from No. 3, and is now living with No. 4. Fourteen children have been the result of this rather miscellaneous marrying; and as the dame is still in the prime of life, she can be still married much more, and make further additions to the population of Vermont.

THE Radical Convention of Tallapoosa county, Alabama, adopted the following resolution by a large majority:

"Resolved, That this meeting do most heartily endorse the Administration of President Grant, if the Postmaster General will increase the salary of the postmaster at this place."

And the "salary of the postmaster at this place" was promptly increased, the better to secure the perpetuation of the plunderers' power.

THE Radical journals are highly eulogistic of their candidate for Vice President, upon the ground that he is a highly moral man; that he does not chew nor smoke nor use strong oaths; nor indulge in horse racing nor anything of the sort. Well, was not Colfax all these? How about the President? If these qualities are important for an inferior office, are they not much more important for the superior.

THE Boston Post says: "An English lady was recently forced to pay twenty dollars damage for having given a good 'character' to a servant whom she knew did not deserve it. Suppose the same penalty was exacted in this country for giving good characters to public servants who don't deserve them; the delegates to the Philadelphia Convention would have returned home bankrupt."

AN Iowa cow committed suicide the other day, out of grief for the loss of her calf. After following the butcher's wagon to the slaughter house and giving vent to a series of agonizing moans, she deliberately made her way to the river, waded in beyond her depth and was drowned.

FOR THE CAMPAIGN

THE COMPILER will be furnished from the 1st of July to the 1st of November at little more than the cost of the paper, as follows: Single copy [illegible] cts; ten copies $4; twenty copies $7; and fifty copies $1[illegible]. Cash in advance in all cases. Democrats are urged to aid the circulation of the "GOOD OLD CAUSE" paper by getting up clubs without delay.

To vote for Hartranft is to endorse official rascality.

BRICK POMEROY is a decided favorite with the Grantites just now.

THE Greeley and Brown headquarters in Washington have cheering news from North Carolina.

MR. J. M. WALLACE has retired from the Catholic Herald. He is probably for Buckalew, Greeley and Brown.

HON. W. A. WALLACE made a telling speech in favor of Greeley and Brown, at a ratification meeting in Harrisburg a few nights ago.

EX-GOV. CURTIN.—Private advices received at Washington state that ex-Gov. Curtin, now minister to Russia, has resigned, and will soon return to take the stump on the Liberal side in Pennsylvania.

GEN. KILPATRICK, who made a "ringing" Republican speech in the Court-house in this place, last fall, addressed an immense concourse of people at Bangor, Maine, on Saturday, in favor of the election of Greeley and Brown.

HON. DANIEL W. VOORHEES, of Indiana, who was among the first to oppose the nomination of Greeley and Brown by the Baltimore Convention, made a speech at Spencer, Indiana, on the 18th ult., fully endorsing and supporting these nominations, now that they have been made by the National Convention of the Democratic party. In such a contest, he says, no Democrat can hesitate. As between Greeley and Grant the former is infinitely preferable.

DEFECTIONS.—Dr. S. D. Freeman, of McKean county, this State, the Grant candidate for Elector in that district, and a member of the Radical State Central Committee, has resigned both positions, and announced himself for Greeley and Brown.

D. F. Glassmire, of Potter county, member of the Radical State Central Committee, and Chairman of the Radical County Committee, has also sent in his resignation, and, in his own language, says he is "from top to toe for Greeley, Brown and Buckalew."

THE Democratic Delegate Elections in this county will be held on Saturday, the 3d of August next, and the County Convention on Monday following. The offices for which nominations will be made are among the most important, and it is to be hoped that due care will be exercised in the selection of delegates with reference thereto. Let our Democratic friends throughout the county turn out to the Delegate Elections and select their best men to represent them. The results of a Convention so constituted cannot fail to be satisfactory.

SENATOR THURMAN, of Ohio, has written a letter in which he says that though he would have preferred that the Democrats had resolved on a straight Democratic ticket, he will work earnestly for the election of Greeley and Brown, as it is the will of the party, and he believes that the welfare of the country requires the defeat of the present Administration. The nomination of Greeley and Brown at Baltimore, he says, was the work of the people, politicians having nothing or little to do with it. The Democratic party does not abandon its principles, but believing as it does that the course of the Radical leaders threatens to destroy all constitutional and democratic ideas, it is bound by its principles to seek to overthrow those leaders, and if it cannot do it by the mode it would prefer it is but common sense to take the next best mode.

SENATOR BAYARD

He Advises the Democrats of Delaware to Accept Greeley and Brown

The great tidal wave of popular enthusiasm for the ticket nominated at Baltimore is sweeping all before it. From East and West, from North and South, comes the news of the endorsement of the ticket by newspapers and prominent men who have heretofore opposed the nomination of Mr. Greeley by the Democracy. Prominent among the latter was Senator Bayard of Delaware, who, as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, strongly opposed the nomination of Greeley and Brown and demanded "straight out" candidates. His sentiments at present are set forth in the following letter to a friend in Delaware:

MY DEAR SIR: The peremptory order of my physicians compel me to obtain absolute rest and quiet, and for this reason I leave the country. My passage has been engaged and I shall sail for Europe on Saturday, the 13th instant. Although unfitted by my condition of health, I felt it to be my duty to go to Baltimore as a delegate to the Convention, and it is in relation to the action of that body that I wish a few words with you, and, through you, to my own party friends in Delaware, before I leave. I need not say to you or to them with what astonishment and disappointment I heard of the nomination of Greeley and Brown at Cincinnati, nor how steadily and openly I have at all times expressed myself in opposition to the adoption of that ticket by the Democratic party at Baltimore. But the result has been accomplished, however much against our will and efforts, and it is our duty calmly and steadily to confront the fact now presented to our eyes. If the issues of the campaign were the mere ones of revenue reform or civil service reform, questions in which pecuniary loss or gain to the public are involved, I might be willing to take no part in the Presidential contest, but allow the demoralizing course pursued by Grant and his Administration to be continued four years longer, trusting that the very extent and flagitious nature of the notorious abuses would in themselves soon instruct the people that they would refrain from placing further trust in such hands. The natural capacities of the soil and climate of our country, together with the industry and energies of our people, render the production of wealth (mere wealth) almost boundless, and we can thrust aside to bear the results of financial blunders, and so long as they are confined to official circles of public robberies and peculations, provided we can in the end buy our experience through the usual methods of loss and suffering. But, severe and painful though these abuses and their consequences may be, they weigh too lightly compared to the destruction of all the limitations upon power which our written constitution of government was designed to create and which Gen. Grant and those who assist him in administering the Government, including the Radical majorities in both houses of Congress, seem either to totally disregard or, as I have sometimes thought, to take a scornful pleasure in trampling under foot.

It is utterly impossible for me, with the scenes which I have witnessed in the Senate of the United States rising before my eyes, not to feel the gravest apprehensions and alarm at any prospect or suggestion of allowing the power of Grant and his Administration to rule the Southern States and their white inhabitants longer to continue, if any honorable act of mine can tend to avert so great a calamity. Can any man justly deny that the condition of the people in the Flemish provinces torn from France by the armed hand of Germany is preferable to-day in all that protects person and property to that of the white people in many of the Southern States under the governments which Congress has set up over them under the so-called system of reconstruction, and which Grant has upheld either by threats of the bayonet or its actual presence in those communities? He and his party have stood by for the last three years and have seen the South robbed, insulted, and almost beggared by a motley crew, all of his own political party, of unprincipled political adventurers from the North and ignorant and vicious negroes of the native population, and have uttered no word of disapproval, but, on the contrary, have from time to time lent the military power of the government, as in the instance of the troops sent upon application of Governor Holden of North Carolina, of Scott of South Carolina, or his own brother-in-law, Casey, in New Orleans, to maintain in power these rapacious and dishonest rulers whom the sufferings and discontent of their people were threatening to eject from office and power. Now, whether I approve Mr. Greeley personally or no, whether he had or had not been the steady and violent opponent of the political principles and measures which you and I have been upholding all our lives, yet it has become, with or against our action or wishes, the most likely or practical means of restoring a better condition of feeling in the North toward the South, and restoring security and justice to that oppressed region. I should feel myself [illegible] an American without regard to the name of party, but without the sacrifice of any conviction in relation to my political principles, compelled to assist in placing him in power.

I say nothing now of his qualifications or personal fitness for the place. I have spoken of them heretofore, and against my wishes and judgment the representatives of the party have placed him in the candidacy. If there was any practicable means of electing a man better fitted for the place, and one whose political career has been in harmony with your views and mine, I need not say to you that I should strive to see such a one chosen. But the current of popular opinion in this vast country takes strange and oftentimes untoward directions, and for good or ill sweeps us with it. Sixty days ago the coalition of affairs we now witness would have been deemed incredible, and any man would have laughed at it as absurd and impossible. But what we now see in fact and substance, [illegible] as they now confront us were shaped in opposition to our efforts, and as they are we are not responsible for them. But we are responsible for our mode of dealing with them now, and I hope our State Convention will promptly and decidedly nominate an electoral ticket in opposition to Grant and Wilson, and in favor of the only candidates who, as matters now stand, can be hopefully expected to defeat them—I mean Greeley and Brown, for whom I expect to vote on the fifth day of November next. I hope to return home by the middle of September, with my health restored and enabled to take part in the political canvass. The subject to which this letter relates has given me a great deal of anxiety and distress, which I know is shared by thousands of true men of the same political party in this State. But I believe that my decision is the right one, and I know that it is founded upon honest motives. The only alternative to a whole or half way aid to Grant's re-election may be hard for us to adopt, but I think it is our duty, and so I trust will you and the entire Democracy of Delaware. Your friend sincerely,

T. F. BAYARD
Wilmington, July 11, 1872.

IT PLEASES THEM TOO MUCH.—Said one of our most intelligent and active young Democrats to us the other day: "I thought I couldn't stomach Greeley, but, I guess I'll have to go him. I find that whenever I say anything against the Baltimore nominees it pleases the Grant men nearly to death. I think I must be in the wrong when my talk tickles the Grant men, and I have decided to swallow Greeley. I despise that man Grant too much to do anything that gives encouragement to him or his friends."

THE Washington Patriot brands as false the absurd report started in the New York Times that Congressman Eldridge, of Wisconsin, is for Grant. He is a member of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and may be found any day at the rooms in the Capitol hard at work for the Baltimore nominees.

BUCKALEW, Hartranft and Thompson are magnetic names. Whenever they are mentioned in political circles they create a feeling of satisfaction.

NOTES OF THE "TIDAL WAVE."

John G. Saxe, the poet, is going to take the stump for Greeley.

General Samuel F. Cary, of Ohio, is on the North Carolina stump for the Democratic cause.

The Mobile Register, John Forsyth's paper, accepts the inevitable. It says:

"We go for Greeley and Brown because we cannot afford in the slightest degree to be responsible for the re-election of Grant and Wilson."

The newspapers are publishing records of impromptu ballots under the head of "straws." The Hartford Times says that a vote taken on Saturday among the workmen in the Western Railroad shops at Springfield resulted in just three votes for Grant—all the rest for Greeley—and there are about 300 workmen in the shops.

John A. Kasson, Mr. Lincoln's assistant Postmaster General, is the Liberal candidate for Congress in the first district in Iowa.

We have yet to find the first Republican who thinks Hartranft will be elected.

Murat Halstead is spoken of as the Liberal-Democratic-Greeley candidate for Congress in the Second District of Ohio.

The old La Crosse Democrat is dead, but is succeeded by the La Crosse Daily Liberal Democrat, which advocates the election of Greeley and Brown.

The political editor of the Rochester Express, Mr. W. F. Fowler, cannot agree with the political course of that paper, which is for Grant, and withdraws. He will advocate the Greeley cause elsewhere.

The Iowa Staats Zeitung, the Radical Republican German paper of Dubuque, came out on the 11th instant with the Greeley-Brown ticket at its mast head, advocating, in a long and able editorial, their claims to the suffrages of its readers.

A New Orleans despatch says that Lieutenant Governor Pinchback has been making Greeley speeches in St. James Parish, La. This is regarded as significant, as Pinchback has heretofore favored Grant. He is the leading negro politician in the Southwest.

Mr. Colfax says he intends this year, "to have a season of rest and quiet for the first time in twenty years, free from the toil and excitement of public speaking." His selection of the year of a Presidential canvass for rest and seclusion does not argue much enthusiasm for Grant and Wilson.

The Keokuk Constitution is confident that "the vote between Greeley and Grant in Iowa will be very close, with the chances in favor of Greeley."

The Clearfield Democrat says it is currently reported that Hon. Chas. McIlrath, State Auditor of Minnesota, has declared for Greeley and Brown.

A farmer in Monticello, Iowa, writing to a Chicago commission merchant, says: "This town gave 300 majority for Grant; it will now give Greeley a majority."

There are but fifty-two Grant men in the town of Lansing, Iowa. All the old "Stiff-backs" of the Republican party are for Greeley, and the rank and file go with them.

Letters from Kansas report great activity in the Liberal cause in every county in that State. Greeley Republicans are confident that their ticket will in many places squarely divide the Republican vote with Grant, and carry the electoral vote of the State by a fair majority.

Of the nineteen Congressional districts of Illinois fifteen gave Grant majorities in 1868. But thus early in the canvass the Chicago Tribune thinks it is safe to claim twelve districts for Greeley, and to predict that in four other districts the Greeley candidates will stand an even chance of election.

A week ago to-day the Liberals of Nebraska City opened the campaign in a spirited manner. One hundred guns were fired, and 50 tar barrels were kept up until a late hour. The Hon. M. J. Hazard, Chief Justice Mason, Judge Kinney, and others addressed the gathering of about 1,500 people.

The New Orleans Abeille, which represents the views of the Creoles and French of Louisiana, accepts the Baltimore nominations, and declares that it will work with zeal and energy for the success of both the State and Presidential tickets.

A Democrat of La Crosse, Wisconsin, writes that nearly half the Republicans of that city are Greeley men, and that the Baltimore nominees will get a majority of from 400 to 800 in November. La Crosse gave Grant a majority of 160 in 1868.

The Greeley and Brown Club of Key West, Fla., reports the voters of that (Monroe) county to be politically divided as follows: For Greeley and Brown—Democrats 600, Liberal Republicans 400. Total 1,000. For Grant 150. The county has about 7000 inhabitants, having recently had a large accession of patriot Cubans, who are all Liberal Republicans.

A call for a Greeley and Brown meeting in Binghamton, N. Y., has been signed by eighty-nine Republicans.

The oldest Republican jurist in Wisconsin, Judge George W. Cate, has announced his preference for Greeley.

The leading Republican paper of Southern Kansas, The Fort Scott Monitor, has pronounced for Greeley and Brown.

Ex-Congressman Burt Van Horn, of Niagara county, and Judge John A. Carey, of Corning, N. Y., old Republicans, have announced themselves for Greeley and Brown.

The Saratoga Sentinel, a Republican paper, now hoists the names of Greeley and Brown. It states that it can no longer consistently sustain the present Administration.

D. F. Worcester is in receipt of a letter from Chief-Justice Chase, in which he says: "If I live and am able to go to Cincinnati in November I shall vote for Horace Greeley."

Alanbert Pond, one of the Republican members of the State Constitutional Convention in 1867, and subsequently a member of the Legislature, heads the call for a Liberal County Convention in Saratoga county, N. Y.

Gen. H. A. Barnum, Gen. Burbridge, Col. Higginson and many more distinguished Republican soldiers who supported Grant in 1868, have joined the Liberal movement.

Senator Schurz, after speaking in St. Louis, will go to New Orleans and thence to Mobile, and then start northward through Alabama and Georgia. He will not be able to reach North Carolina in time for the present campaign there.

Ex-United States Senator Wilkinson, of Minnesota, who supports Greeley, writes encouragingly of the prospects of the conservative ticket in that State. Mr. W. has been until recently a strong Radical.

A fierce attack on Colonel Forney and others associated with him, made by Senator Cameron in the New York Herald of Friday last, is about to lead to a spirited correspondence, which can have no other effect than to widen the breach already existing in the Republican ranks in Pennsylvania.

All the Democratic papers of the Pacific Coast accept Greeley.

The Executive Committee of the California Labor Reformers have declared for Greeley and Brown.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Hoffman, of Illinois, Republican, has declared for Greeley and Brown.

The Hon. Galusha A. Grow writes from Texas that that state will give Greeley 50,000 majority. He will stump the northern counties of Pennsylvania for Greeley in September.

Fifty Republicans are reported for Greeley in Towanda borough.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Logan county, Illinois, came off last week. It was addressed by Judge Trumbull, who was vociferously applauded. There is the greatest political excitement in Illinois known for many years. The Germans are moving, and a large number of old Republicans are coming out for Greeley and Brown.

The Emporium Independent claims Cameron county by over 100 majority for Buckalew, and between 200 and 300 for Greeley. This county, which polls only about 1,000 votes, has uniformly gone Republican.

Local Matters.

TOWN, COUNTY AND SURROUNDING COUNTIES

THE corn is growing almost beyond precedent.

RAIN.—We had a copious rain, in spots in this county, on Sunday night.

THE Democrats of York county will nominate their ticket on Tuesday, August 6th.

A CORRECT [illegible] of the Gettysburg Battlefield will be published by Col. Batchelder.

DR. M. D. G. PFEIFFER, of New Oxford, sails this week for Europe, to return next spring.

THE Franklin County Fair this year will take place on the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th days of October.

WE know enough about farming to state that this is a good time to plant hitching posts in front of your shade trees.

PERSONS in the cities who desire to find a delightful and healthy place to spend the summer months should come to Gettysburg.

OUR Farmers are in the midst of oats harvest. The crop will be large, but some of it lighter in the grain than was expected two weeks ago.

BRUISED peach leaves are said to be an excellent application for wounds. In some cases, when lockjaw was apprehended, they cured it as if by magic.

SERENADE.—The guests at the Springs Hotel were serenaded by the Gettysburg Cornet Band on Thursday evening of last week. A very enjoyable musical treat.

MESSRS. BENNER & LAWYER, proprietors of the Shoe Factory at Westminster, Md., finding their building too small, have commenced the erection of a large brick factory.

TROT.—The trotting match on the Fair Ground, on Saturday last, resulted in favor of "Mary," of West Virginia, she having won the three first heats—time 2.5[illegible], 2.55 and 2.58.

THE trial of Joseph W. Davis (for the murder of Abraham F. Lyon, in Carroll county,) removed to Washington county, Md., will probably not take place until the end of September.

MAIL CARRYING.—J. M. Tingley, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., having failed to bond the carrying of the mail from Gettysburg to Mechanicsburg, Pa., it has been allotted to Geo. Wissinger, of Hagerstown, Md.

THE new regulations of the Post Office Department, under the recent act of Congress, provide that where mail matter reaches its destination with the postage unpaid, double the prepaid rate shall be exacted on delivery.

THE recent Fourth was celebrated with much spirit at Pomeroy, Iowa, and we notice by the Gazette that among the prominent features of the occasion was the parade of the Zouaves, commanded by Capt. S. H. [illegible], formerly of this county.

PEACHES.—Delaware will send only 1,500,000 baskets of peaches to market this year, as against 4,500,000 last year. The peach crop of Delaware will be, according to these figures, only half a crop. It will be nearly or quite a full crop in this region.

LAMP chimneys are apt to break if fitted tightly into the socket. This allows no room for expansion when they are heated. A loose fit when cold should always be preferred, as after the lamp is lit the chimney will be found to expand sufficiently to fill the socket.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE.—The first term of the next collegiate year will begin August 29th. The Faculty is full, and embraces culture and teaching talent of high order. To those seeking a thorough education we earnestly commend this institution. See announcement, in another column.

THE Tableaux and Private Theatricals at the Springs Hotel, on Saturday evening, were, we hear, entirely successful. The large dining room was full and everybody seemed pleased. The efforts made for the entertainment of the many guests at this now established summer resort must be appreciated.

S. S. INSTITUTE.—A Sabbath School Institute was formed at Bender's Church on the 22d ult.—President, E. D. W. Hartley; Vice Presidents, J. Y. Bushey and J. Lower; Secretaries, W. A. Pitzer and W. H. Deatrick; Corresponding Secretary, Elias Spangler, and Treasurer, Jesse Houck. To meet at Arendtsville on Saturday, Oct. 5, at 1 P. M.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon a party of town boys went to Rock Creek, having several pistols among them. One in the hands of Powers Pittenturf accidentally went off, the charge of small shot entering the [illegible] of Charles Musser. Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal was called to the case. He found that seventeen of the shot had gone through the skin, but none deep enough to threaten serious results.

REAL ESTATE OPERATIONS.—Mr. John McMaster some time ago traded Mr. Adam Hartlaub 52 acres of land in Mountpleasant township for 52 acres in Mountjoy township, the latter having improvements. The exchange was made even for the land, but McMaster allowed Hartlaub $1,200 for his improvements. Since then Hartlaub agreed to give McMaster $2,700 for the property he got from him, McMaster to take Hartlaub's property in Bonaughtown at $3,000.

CAMP MEETINGS.—The Carlisle District Camp-meeting, to commence near Oakville on the 7th of August, promises to be very large. Two hundred and seventy-four tents are already up and ready for occupancy. Some of the most prominent preachers in the country will be in attendance.

The sixth annual Camp Meeting of the East Pennsylvania Camp Meeting Association, of the United Brethren Church, will be held at Hummelstown from the 13th to the 20th of August.

DEATH OF PURSER RAMSEY.—Major Stewart Ramsey, probably the oldest Purser in the United States Navy, died, at the residence of his niece, Mrs. De Baugher, in this place, on Tuesday morning, aged about 82 years. He was retired, among many others, several years ago, on the reduced pay ordered by the law. Few men have enjoyed a more general personal acquaintance, or wider esteem, than Major Ramsey, and many of his old friends will hear of his demise with sorrow. The remains were interred in the family burying ground at Carlisle on Wednesday.

DEATH OF NICHOLAS MYERS.—In every village and hamlet throughout the county the many friends and acquaintances of Nicholas Myers, "boss miller," will be sorry to learn of his sudden demise. Many years ago his troubles were greater than he could bear, and he became a homeless wanderer. He was found dead in the barn of Martin Sawyer, near East Berlin, on the morning of July 18. Before 10 o'clock upwards of fifty neighbors assembled to view the remains and render any assistance they might, as a tribute of the affectionate regard in which they held the kind-hearted old man.

Albert W. Storm, Esq., empanelled a jury composed of E. S. Hildebrand, Solomon Spangler, Daniel Baker, Conrad [illegible], Henry Smith and Andrew Spangler. Dr. Robert N. Meisenhelder assisted professionally.

It appears that Mr. Myers had been sojourning in and around Berlin several days; that the evening previous he had taken supper about 4 o'clock at Michael Lebert's, passed up by Solomon Spangler's about 6 o'clock and arrived at Sawyer's before dark. He did not complain of feeling unwell, and nothing unusual was noticed in his manner. He had frequently slept in Sawyer's barn, and was always kindly treated by the family.

Cornelius Nitchman had been working for Sawyer, and on his way home he went into the barn to get his coat. Nicholas had made a nice bed on the floor, hung up his clothes to dry, and was kneeling in prayer. Being disturbed by Nitchman, he arose and said in German, "Well, to-morrow we will be up if we live, and if we don't live it won't make much difference, perhaps we will be in heaven." These are the last words he is known to have spoken.

The following morning Wm. Sawyer went into the barn, and seeing him lying there, said, "Get up, Nicky, and come to breakfast." But Nicky did not move. He was dead.

The jury rendered a verdict that death resulted from natural causes. His remains were interred at Paradise. On his person were found a penknife, a pencil and two cents. [illegible]

HAND BOARDS.—By an Act of the Legislature passed June 13, 1836, it was made the duty of the Supervisors in the several townships of this Commonwealth to erect Hand boards at the intersection of all public roads. The following are the sections covering the subject:

1. The Supervisors aforesaid shall cause posts to be erected at the intersection of all public roads within their respective townships, (where trees are not convenient,) with arms firmly fixed thereon and index hands pointing to the direction of such roads, on which boards shall be inscribed in large and legible characters the name of the town, village or place to which such road leads, and the distance thereto computed in miles.

2. If any Supervisor shall, for ten days, neglect or refuse to put up or keep in complete repair index boards as aforesaid, such Supervisor shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten dollars.

RAILROAD.—In a recent conversation with Mr. P. Henry Irwin, civil engineer, he informed us that he was about finishing a survey for a railroad from New York across New Jersey into Bucks county, this State, and that the road would certainly be built. This looks like a section of an air line between New York and Hancock, Md., and should it ultimately be extended to completion, Gettysburg may expect to be upon it. We are inclined to think that the advantages of the old "Tapeworm" route will yet be seen by the outside world, and the work so long idle will then be put to proper use.

TOURNAMENT.—According to announcement, the [illegible] tournament will be held on the 22d of August, on the Agricultural Fair Grounds, the proceeds to be devoted to the Gettysburg Cornet Band. A large number of Knights, appropriately costumed, are expected to participate. The different committees have been appointed, and will be made known through small bills. The day's pleasures will be closed by a grand ball in the Hall. Good music will be in attendance, and the whole affair will doubtless be a success as it is in good hands.

TEACHERS APPOINTED.—The School Directors of this borough, on Friday evening, made the following appointment of teachers:

No. 1, High School, Capt. J. T. McCreary; No. 2, Miss Martha A. Warren; No. 3, Miss Marie Thompson; No. 4, Miss Mary A. McCreary; No. 5, J. Howard Wert; No. 6, Miss Nancy White; No. 7, Miss Lillie Frey; No. 8, Miss Alice Warren; No. 9, Miss Emma Warren. The Schools will re-open on the 1st of September.

CASHTOWN PIC NIC.—The seventh annual Pic Nic at Cashtown will be held on Saturday, the 3d of August. The grove adjoining the town, is a delightful one, and a new dancing floor of extraordinary size, will be among the attractions. Good music, of course, and plenty of refreshments by E. H. Minnigh. A general attendance from near and far, is invited, and a good time promised. 2t

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last Charles, son of Mr. Wm. G. Black, of Cumberland township, had his shoulder dislocated. While playing with his sister he fell, by which the accident happened. Dr. J. B. Simpson, of Harney, Md., was called in, who reduced the fracture, and the child is doing well.—Star.

APPRENTICE.—Ziegler & Holtzworth, North Washington street, Gettysburg, want an Apprentice to the Blacksmithing business. Apply immediately, the applicant to be well recommended. March 8 tf

THE FLORENCE—one of best and most satisfactory Sewing Machines ever introduced—can now be had of Wm. P. Biddle, York street, Gettysburg. See advertisement. tf

AT COST.—Lewis Strouse having purchased the stock of goods in Wolf & Bollinger's store, on the northeast corner of the Public Square, is now selling them off at cost. Call and get cheap goods.

THE relaxing power of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is truly wonderful. Cases are already numerous where bent and stiffened limbs have been limbered and straightened by it. When used for this purpose, the part should be washed and rubbed thoroughly. Apply the liniment cold, and rub it in with the hand.

A crowd of "Horse Men," and others daily throng the stores in country and town for Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. They understand that horses cannot be kept in good condition without them, and with them can be on a much less quantity of grain. 1t

Reports from Madrid say their Majesties maintained fully their self-possession.

According to a correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, the inhabitants of Aurora, Ind., are excited over a cave that has turned up there recently. The story is of the finding of a wonderful cavern, parts of which rival, if they do not surpass, the vaulted chambers of the Mammoth Cave itself, the existence of which has been unknown until very lately, when the entrance to the cave was discovered by several boys who were searching for berries. In this cave and near its mouth was found the skeleton of a man in whose pocket was found a scrap of paper, a few words written on which proclaimed him to be the murderer of the late Mr. Nathan. So many murderers of Mr. Nathan have come to light that naturally one has a great deal of credulity about this one.

THE AUGUST ALDINE is as good as a run into the country, and we should not be surprised to learn that it has gained thousands of subscribers among those who are too busy to take a summer jaunt. Perkins's illustrations of the Kaaterskill, for example, are the finest pieces of rural scenery that we have ever seen in The Aldine. There are five in all, one full page, representing the Falls, and the others minor falls and sheets of water, which anglers know are peopled with trout, and which they are wild over. Another full page drawing is "The Old Oaken Bucket," by John S. Davis, a delicious bit of country life illustrating Woodworth's well known poem better than it has ever been done before. Bierling's Blue Birds is a dainty bit of nature. Another glimpse of nature—not at all dainty—is Cary's "Old Squaw Pounding Cherries," a powerful realization of the condition of woman among the Indians. Besides these we have "The Courtship of Miles Standish," or rather the courtship of John Alden from the poem of that name; "A Gypsy Girl at her Toilet;" "The Forester's Happy Family," after Carlo Hammer; and a spirited view of "The Minster at Ulm." The literature of the number is fully up to its Art. There is a capital Russian story, "Married in a Snow Storm," from the Russian of Pushkin, by William Percival; a touching Spanish story, [illegible], from the Spanish of [illegible], by Helen S. Conant; "Worse than Small Pox," a bright and humorous American story, by Lucy Ellen Guernsey; a charming description of Kaaterskill and its environs by the poet Stedman; "A Few Words on Angling," in the same vein, by Henry Richards; "In the Woods," a pleasant little essay by W. W. Bailey; "Lamplight," another essay by Julian Hawthorne; a third on "Blue Birds," by the artist Bierling, and a fourth on "Hunting Snails," by Dr. E. M. Coues. There are editorials on "The Old Oaken Bucket," "The Minster at Ulm," "Woman's Place," "Gypsies," and "The Forester's Happy Family," and careful reviews of Mistral's "Mirèio," and Sharp's "Studies in Poetry." Besides these papers there are three excellent poems, "Two," by Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr; "Beside the Sea," by Mrs. Mary E. Bradley; and "The Sparrows' City," by George Cooper. Where The Aldine gets so much good poetry is a mystery which none of our other magazines are able to solve. It never prints a poor one, while they print little else. The subscription price is $5 per annum, which includes an elegant oil chromo, and the publishers are James Sutton & Co., 23 Liberty St., N. Y.

HAVE IT ALWAYS AT HAND.—Accidents will happen in the best regulated families, and for this reason among many others, the Mustang Liniment should find a place in the cupboard of every household. In all the world there is nothing comparable to it as an application for cuts, contusions, burns, sprains, and scalds, and when every other preparation that medical ingenuity can suggest has failed to afford relief in rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, glandular swellings, muscular contractions, cramps, toothache, &c., this powerful anti-inflammatory and pain destroying agent immediately assuages the sufferer's agony and eventually accomplishes a radical cure. Probably there is not a connoisseur in horse flesh or an amateur horseman in the land who does not know, either from personal observation or reports, that the Mustang Liniment is the supreme remedy for all external diseases and injuries of the horse. 1t

"G. M. D."—Don't stand aghast with awe and fear, eyes wide open, hair on end and fingers tightly clinched with the idea that these mysterious symbols are cabalistic signs and represent some secret organization of masked demons, who carry terror and dismay with their midnight prowlings and disperse on the dawn of morning. No! They are only the initials of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that pleasant medicine which has acquired a National reputation and proven so efficacious in coughs, colds, consumption and kindred diseases. For these complaints it has no equal. Sold by all druggists. 579 1t

ONE HALF the people cannot take Castor Oil from its terrible nauseating taste, and recoil in the throat. The Castoria prepared by Dr. Pitcher is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take and more effective than Castor Oil. It does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and operates when all other remedies have failed. It acts like magic for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup and Worms. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine and Alcohol. Its soothing, quieting effect, produces natural sleep and particularly adapts it to crying and teething children. No article has ever met such unqualified endorsement by the Physicians. Take no more Bitter Pills, Nauseous Syrups, Griping Purgatives or Sickening Oils. The Castoria costs but 35 cents, and when once tried you will never be without it. July 19, 1872 1t

WHAT FORNEY THINKS OF GREELEY.—A Harrisburg correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, one day last week, wrote:

I was conversing to-day on a railway train with a personal friend of Colonel John W. Forney, a well known railway man. He said he had recently talked with Colonel Forney about the political prospects, and was surprised to find the Colonel holding and expressing such opinions as he did. As specimens of the utterances of the late Collector of the Port of Philadelphia and editor of the Press he gave the following:

"Greeley will make a good and efficient President. He is an able, honest man. In fact I regard him as by all means the ablest editor of America, wise, sagacious, and large hearted."

Before closing the conversation, Colonel Forney said: "I shan't make any speeches for Grant. I will vote for him, but that's all."

How Forney can even do that much for the reviler of his dear friend Sumner nobody can conceive.

UNDER the head of "One District Heard From," the Pittsburgh Post says:

The Grant organs here affect to make light of the support of Mr. Greeley. If it is any consolation we can tell them that in the township of North Versailles alone, whose average vote is one hundred Republican to eighty Democratic, there are thirty one Grant Republicans who have declared for Greeley, Buckalew and the whole ticket, and what's more, some have and others will subscribe for the Post. Honest Republicans who are disgusted with Hartranft, Evans & Co. are fast falling into line, and in a few days the people will be better able to judge of the disaffection in the banner county. They have faith in the Hon. T. M. Marshall and will follow where he leads.

DURING the session of the Baltimore Convention, the following wager was made between Hon. A. K. McClure, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Alvord, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Indiana:

If Pennsylvania shall give a larger majority for Mr. Buckalew than Indiana does for Mr. Hendricks, Mr. Hendricks is to bring to and present to the State of Pennsylvania a prize banner appropriately inscribed. If the majority for Mr. Hendricks shall be larger than that for Mr. Buckalew, Mr. Buckalew is to go to Indiana and present a similar banner to that State.

ALDERMAN WM. McMULLEN, Philadelphia, was shot in that city on Monday, by a desperate character named Hugh Mara. The Moyamensing Hose Company, of which McMullen is President, was having a celebration. Mara took one of the bouquets from the dining table and walked out. McMullen followed him into a neighboring saloon, when Mara drew a revolver and fired, the charge lodging in McMullen's breast. His physician, Dr. W. Kent Gilbert, was soon on hand, and he pronounced the Alderman in a critical condition. Mara managed to elude arrest.

A KENTUCKY farmer has sold two short-horn heifers for $6,500 each.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday evening of last week, as the Harrisburg Accommodation train was coming in, the engine struck a colored man named Harry Smith, not far from the Water House, cutting his head in a terrible manner and otherwise injuring him. The train was stopped and he was placed in the baggage car and brought to the depot, where he expired in a short time. Coroner Kease held an inquest over the body. It appears that Smith was walking along the opposite track to the one the train was coming on, but the engineer thought it necessary to caution him that the train was coming, as he apparently was going from the right and left, and in doing so the unfortunate man stepped right in front of the engine. He resided in the Fourth Ward, and is about 77 years of age. He leaves a wife and three children.—York Gazette.

CATARRH OF THE HEAD

And Soft Palate.

THE symptoms of this terrible disease are hawking and spitting, weak or inflamed eyes, soreness of the throat, and clogged with matter, dryness and heat in the nose, ringing or buzzing in the ears, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness and dizziness, with more or less pain and heat in the head, pains in either chest or side, under and between the shoulder blades, pains in the back and limbs, a hacking cough and colds very common, some have an offensive discharge from the nostrils, often red, dull, heavy, stupid and sleepy, sick headache, loss of appetite for breakfast, costive bowels, palpitation of the heart, vomiting of meals and cramps of the bowels. Some have all these symptoms, others but few. Catarrh of the Head is of the same nature as Cancer, and requires the same medicine only in a modified degree. I possess a safe, certain and reliable medicine for either of the above diseases.

Strike and Riot at Williamsport—The Military Called Out by Gov Geary

The strike of the saw mill hands at Williamsport has assumed a serious aspect. A large body of strikers assembled on Monday morning, and moved to the upper mill yards. At the mill of Gilbert & Otto police were stationed in line, when the crowd assailed them with brickbats, charged through them, and went into the mill. From there they went through all the mills, the men at work fleeing for their lives. Several fights occurred, and many were wounded. One boy was struck with a handspike by the foreman of a mill and is seriously wounded. The strikers then moved to the mills below the city, closing those at work. The military were called out, and intense excitement prevailed. Some shooting occurred at night, but it was not of a serious character.

—Governor Geary, on Tuesday, issued a proclamation declaring the acts of the strikers in preventing others from working unlawful, and directing the military to hold themselves in readiness when called upon to enforce the laws and bring the offenders to justice.

A number of military companies arrived on Tuesday, and the leading rioters were arrested. There was still some excitement on Tuesday evening, but the disturbance seemed to be at an end.

THE CHOLERA.—London, July 20.—Advices from St. Petersburg state that the cholera epidemic is gradually making its way from the Eastern provinces of Russia, and obtaining a foothold in the Central and Western portions of the Empire.

The City of Moscow is now suffering from its ravages, and the disease there has assumed its most malignant form. The proportion of deaths to recoveries of those attacked is placed at eight to one. This terrible fatality has created a panic among the inhabitants, and thousands of the better classes are fleeing into Western Europe.

At St. Petersburg a few sporadic cases have appeared, and the authorities have taken the most rigid precautions to cut off communication between the capital and the infected districts.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has Discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting away of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.

Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

YOUNG MEN

who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveler returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most certain, speedy and effectual remedy in the World for all Diseases of Imprudence.

DR. JOHNSTON,

OFFICE, NO. 7 S. FREDERICK STREET, left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe name and number.

BALTIMORE, MD.,

☞No letters received unless post-paid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

There are so many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Impostors advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this Establishment, year after year, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Is a powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the languid and debilitated system needs stimulating and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, strength to the weak, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant which, according to the medical authorities of London and Paris possesses the most powerful tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a specific in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine or Urinary Organs.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

CONOWAGO FACTORY!

THE undersigned, having removed from Marsh Creek to Beecherstown, near Heidlersburg, seven miles northeast of Gettysburg, where he has leased the above named Factory, would respectfully inform his customers and the public in general that he is now prepared to carry on the manufacturing business in all its branches.

CLOTH, CASSIMERS, CASSINETS, JEANS, BLANKETING, CARPETING, AND COVERLETS, will be manufactured and kept on hand, for sale or exchange for wool, at reasonable prices.

Thankful for the large custom he received during the six years past, he solicits a continuance of public patronage, promising to spare no effort to please and give satisfaction to all who will patronize him with their custom.

Wool, with orders, can be left at Rebert & Bushman's Store, in Gettysburg, which will be promptly attended to. Wool left at Fahnestocks' for me must be marked "John Hammer, Beecherstown." Wool may also be left at Lammot's Store, New Oxford.

THE FLORENCE!

LOCK AND KNOT STITCH.

THE FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE—The only machine making four different stitches, fastening its own ends and turning the work two ways—with self adjusting Tension, has won for itself a reputation unequaled by any of its competitors. The EASE, SWIFTNESS and QUIETNESS of its motions, the beauty and quality of its work, with recent improvements, all combine to render it at once the most efficient, durable and desirable machine in the market.

FERTILIZE! FERTILIZE!

THE undersigned has obtained from the United States, Letters Patent, dated March 26, 1872 for an

Improvement in Preparing Fertilizers

FROM EARTH, &C.,

which he desires to bring to the attention of the public, especially that portion engaged in farming. The new process, which is simply burning earth in a kiln, has been thoroughly tested and proven a full success. It is, besides, mode of fertilizing land yet discovered. The kiln is constructed at small cost, and but little fuel is required to operate it. Every farmer should have this invaluable right. In these days of high prices for lime, guanos and phosphates, this improvement should be taken hold of by all who feel the need of fertilizing the soil.

THE CHEAPEST

Farm, Township, County and State Rights are now offered for sale. For further information address SAMUEL BROWN,

FOR THE FARMER.

HOW TO DRIVE A HORSE.

Young man, I see you are about to take a drive this morning and will offer you some advice. Your horse is restive and wants to be off before you are ready; you may as well break him now as at any other time, and hereafter you will find it has been a half hour well spent. Just give me the reins while you put your foot on the step as if to get in; the horse makes a move to go, I tighten the reins and say whoa. Now put your foot on the step as if to get in; the horse makes another move, I hold the reins and speak to him again. The horse is getting excited. Pat him a little on the neck and talk to him soothingly. Put your foot on the step again and repeat this process until the horse will stand still for you to get in and adjust yourself in your seat and tell him to go. A few such lessons will train him so that he will always wait for your order before starting.

Now, as your horse has been fed, drive him at a very gentle pace for the first two or three miles until he warms up and his body becomes lighter. But before you start let me show you how to hold the reins. Take them in your left hand, the off side one resting on your first fingers, the other on the fourth finger, the back of the hand upwards. Now in guiding the horse you have only to use the wrist joint, which will direct him either right or left as you wish. Keep your hand steady, with a gentle pressure on the bit—no jerking or twitching of the reins. If more speed is wanted, take the whip in your right hand, to be used gently for that purpose—be careful not to apply it any harder than is necessary to bring him to the required speed.

Speak to him soothingly and intimate in the most gentle manner what you want him to do and he will try to do it. So noble an animal should not be handled roughly, and over driven.

When you return, have the harness removed at once, and the horse rubbed down with a whisp of straw or hay.—Give him a bite of grass or hay, and let him cool off before being watered or fed. Every one who handles a horse, or has anything to do with one, should in the first place cultivate his acquaintance, let him know that you are his friend, and prove it to him by your kind treatment; he needs this to inspire confidence, and when that is gained, he is your humble servant.

If your horse gets frightened at any unusual sight or noise, do not whip him, for, if you do, he will connect the whipping with the object that alarmed him and make him afraid of it ever after. If he merely shies at an object, give him time to examine it, which, with some encouraging words from the driver, will persuade him to pass it. You get frightened, too, sometimes, and would not like to be whipped for it.—American Stock Journal.

SUMMER PRUNING GRAPES.

I am often amused at the "hue and cry" raised by some persons against summer pruning of the grape vine. The manner in which it is often performed is certainly enough to bring it into ridicule; but in these instances it is only the result of ignorance, not because judicious summer pruning is not as important as pruning at any other season. I have commenced what I call summer pruning of my vines, which is simply breaking out all surplus shoots that appear. Five or six shoots will often issue from a single joint, and common sense ought to teach a man that one or two is sufficient, and that the best way of disposing of the others is to break them out while young. There is no good reason for allowing more branches to grow than will be required next year for fruiting; and if they are few in number, the more vigorous in growth. Judicious summer pruning not only saves much time in the general annual pruning, but concentrates the strength of the vine and directs it into the fruit and leaves adjoining. Cutting off several feet in the length of the young growing shoots is what some persons may call summer pruning; but it should be called "summer slashing with intent to kill."

During my absence last summer, one of my workmen tried his hand upon a row of vines, using a pruning hook instead of his thumb and finger, removing about two feet of the upper portion of each young shoot. The results were that no fruit ripened, and the vines were nearly killed. I have often seen this kind of summer pruning in gardens where grapes were said never to do well.—Rural life in Rural New Yorker.

GAPES IN CHICKENS.

Having noticed recently in different poultry papers a discussion on the cause and cure of gapes in chickens, I thought it might be of value to give my views to the "fraternity." For several years I have lost a great many young chickens by this complaint. I now am sure I have arrived at the cause, and to prevent it is easy. In the first place, nothing that you can give as food will afford relief, after the gapes makes its appearance; therefore, prevention is the only hope. Nearly every one is aware that it is caused by worms in the windpipe, which fasten themselves on like a leech, and finally strangle the chicken to death. I contend that this worm is caused by the larger species of the louse, that lay their young in the chicken's mouth. Like the maggot from the blow fly, that begins at once to crawl, so the gape-worm finds its way into the opening of the chicken's windpipe. One thing I know, if you will keep lice off the small chickens you will have no gapes. As soon as I take off the brood I put a small quantity of carbolic soap, in solution, under the wings and on the breast of the hen; this applied once a week will keep them all right. The above is from actual experience and observation with my own fowls, and if it will be of service to any that have been as badly troubled as I have been, it will be worth publishing and a trial.—John L. Black, Poultry Bulletin.

APPLE SEEDLINGS.—The most common method of raising apple seedlings is to procure fresh pomace from the cider mills and wash out the seeds. If the pomace is not fresh, having remained several days in a large heap, and begun to ferment, the seed will be of little value. The seed may be spread out and dried, if it is desirable to transport them to any other locality; but the longer time they remain dry the less likely they are to germinate. The best plan is either to sow them immediately, or mix with moist sand and set away in some cool place until spring, and then sow in broad drills, covering about an inch deep with fine, rich soil. We would never incur the expense of sowing apple seeds purchased of seed stores, or elsewhere, until they were tested. It costs too much to prepare a seed bed for one to waste time and labor in sowing poor seed.

THE HOUSEKEEPER.

BEST METHOD WITH OBSTINATE BUTTER.—A Virginia contributor writes as follows for the benefit of a farmer correspondent who details his troubles in churning, and asks "how to make the butter come quickly?" Having been a sufferer from the same annoyances, and having discovered a very simple remedy, and one which in our case has proved entirely successful, I think it is right to make it known. It is simply to place in each two gallon jar of cream one pint of buttermilk. My wife, following the old Virginia style, delights in taking charge of the dairy department after it comes from the stable to the house. She has the milk skimmed into gallon crocks and placed in the cellar for twenty-four hours, then skims the cream which is put into two-gallon jars, to each of which one pint of the buttermilk of the last churning is added, keeps the cream at a temperature of about sixty-five degrees, until it gets to the consistency of clabber, which generally takes about forty-eight hours, when with but little trouble the old-fashioned dasher brings the golden butter.

GRAFTON MILK BISCUIT. Boil and grate two white potatoes; add two teaspoonfuls of brown sugar; pour boiling water over these, enough to soften them. When tepid, add one small teacup of yeast; when light, warm three ounces of butter in one pint of milk, a little salt, and flour enough to make a stiff sponge; when risen, work it on the board, put it back in the tray to rise again; when risen, roll into cakes and let them stand half an hour. Bake in a quick oven. These biscuits are perfect.

TO EXPEL FLIES. Dr. Hewson, of Philadelphia, says hanging branches of Mayweed or wild chamomile in flower, about a room, will expel flies, or even strewing the dried flowers about will answer. Also, partially burn black pepper by putting it on a hot shovel. Throwing a netting over the bed will keep them out, no matter how large the meshes, so there is not a window or door behind the bed, so that the light will shine directly on it.

FAST RACE.—The race between the fastest horses on record, Longfellow and Harry Bassett, which occurred at Saratoga on Tuesday week, the contest being for the valuable Saratoga Cup, resulted in favor of the latter. The first mile both horses were side by side, but Longfellow afterwards faltered, but at the end of the race was beaten only a half length. Longfellow was disabled, probably permanently. He was the favorite with the immense crowd in attendance; and the betting in his favor was four to one. These horses raced recently at Monmouth Park, when Longfellow beat Bassett shamefully. The distance run at Saratoga was, we think, 2¼ miles, and Bassett made it in 3:59. This is the fastest time on record.

A NEWLY DISCOVERED CAVE IN MONROE COUNTY. The Stroudsburg papers inform us that a great natural curiosity has been discovered near the Delaware Water Gap, in Monroe county, on the land of a person named Fear, in the shape of an immense cavern in the rocks, from which issues a current of air, so cold that it was impossible to remain in it long enough to make an exploration. Mr. Fear bought a 100 acres of this mountain land for a $120, about three years ago. Since the cave was discovered he has been offered $1,000 for two acres around its mouth. A good investment, certainly.

AT a meeting of the corporators of the Hanover Junction and Susquehanna railroad, held at Columbia, on the 1st inst., it was resolved to put a corps of engineers upon the road as soon as the wheat harvest was over, and have a route surveyed from Marietta to a point on the Hanover Branch railroad, at or near Hanover Junction.

KISSINGER & CO.,

NO. 2 WEST MARKET STREET, YORK, PA.,

AGENTS AND DEALERS IN

PIANOS, CABINET ORGANS, MELODEONS

AND ALL KINDS OF

respectfully inform the public that they are prepared to furnish Pianos of the following manufacturer or of any other make that may be preferred:

Albright, Reikes & Schmidt,
Chickering & Son, Bradbury,
Knabe & Son, Gale & Son,

ESTEY'S CELEBRATED

COTTAGE, HARMONIC AND BOUDOIR

ORGANS AND MELODEONS.

These instruments stand unrivalled by anything found in this country or in Europe, as is admitted by all impartial judges. The most eminent Pipe Organ Builders and Performers, the last to discover excellence in reed Tone, pronounced them vastly superior to all others for exceedingly quick articulation and round Tone, the essential feature in instruments of this class. We invite the severest scrutiny and criticism.

PATENT VOX HUMANA TREMOLO.

This late and most wonderful invention (so acknowledged by all leading artists) will be found only in the Estey Instruments. In attempting to describe the effect of this stop, we are at loss for language. Its beauties cannot be written, but must be heard to be appreciated. By this stop an ordinary performer can produce an effect which requires a lifetime of practice for an artist upon a violin. It entirely changes the reed Tone, giving the sympathetic sweetness of the human voice, making it so melodious and pure that it never fails to enchant the listener.

THE HARMONIC ORGAN

for Churches, Public Halls and Parlors has a powerful sub-Bass with independent reeds, Harmonic attachment and Vox Humana Tremolo, and is believed to be the most powerful reed organ made, being nearly equal to a Pipe Organ of three times the cost.

All instruments warranted for five years.

☞BRASS BANDS supplied with Instruments and musical merchandise on reasonable terms.

A liberal discount allowed for Churches and Sabbath Schools.

☞Instructions given both in Vocal and Instrumental Music, at our rooms, and at pupils' homes, either to individuals or classes, on reasonable terms.

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN,

Just published, in a sealed envelope, Price 6 cents.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-abuse, etc. By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," etc.

The World-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This LECTURE will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent, under seal, in plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," Price 25 cents. Address the Publishers, CHAS. J. C. KLINE & CO., 127 Bowery, N. Y., Post-Office Box 4,586.

NOTES, of the different descriptions—promissory, exemption, stay, &c.—on good paper, bound and in sheets, always for sale, cheap, at the GETTYSBURG COMPILER office.

DR. WALKER'S

CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Purely Vegetable.

FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safe-guard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good, nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.
